

CRAZY MAN SHOT THREE OF HIS HOUSEHOLD AND THEN KILLED HIMSELF

William Eckert of South Norwalk, Conn., Shot Daughter First, Her Mother Next and Finally His Daughter's Fiance, But None of Them Fatally

MRS. ECKERT ON DANGER LIST, SHOT IN LUNGS

The Other Two, Miss Amelia Eckert and Geo. Bodge Are Expected To Recover—Both Have Wounds in Necks—Eckert Had Spells of Insanity

South Norwalk, Conn., Nov. 9.—William Eckert, 54 years old, shot himself in the left eye, dying almost instantly at his home here to-day after he had shot his wife, Amelia, his daughter, Thelma, 18, and George Bodge, a boarder in the Eckert home. None of the three wounded, except Mrs. Eckert, is believed to be in danger. Mrs. Eckert was shot through the lungs and is in a critical condition in the Norwalk hospital.

Miss Eckert was shot by her father as she entered the living room of the home, the bullet cutting the right side of her neck. Her mother, coming to her aid, was shot next, and Bodge, who is Miss Eckert's fiance, was shot through the neck when he grappled with Eckert.

Elroy Eckert found his mother, his sister and Bodge all unconscious. He went out to telephone for help and when he returned he found his father dead on the floor.

The police were informed that Eckert had had periodical spells of mental aberration.

The beginning of the services was marked by a suspension of business for 15 minutes in many stores and manufacturing plants in the city. The state capital was closed from that hour for the rest of the day out of respect to the memory of the former governor.

Simply characterized the funeral The Rev. Warren S. Archibald, pastor of the South Congregational church, conducted the service.

TRYING TO DODGE JURY DUTY IN HERRIN CASE

But Judge Throws Out Most of the Excuses of the Defendants

Marion, Ill., Nov. 9.—Examination of venemore, from whom will be chosen the jury to decide the fate of the first five men on trial in county court on charges brought in connection with the 23 Herrin mine killings of last June, was continued to-day.

Everyone of the 31 jurors questioned yesterday offered an excuse for not being able to serve, but few of the excuses were accepted by the court. The attorneys say they expected selection of the jury will require several weeks.

YOUNG JAKE TO PLAY.

In Defense of Billiard Trophy His Father Once Held.

New York, Nov. 9.—Jake Schaefer, holder of the billiard title his father, the "wizard," possessed many years ago, will play Rick Hagelbacher of Germany, in the opening match of the international 182 ball line championship tournament next Monday night at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

According to the schedule for the first three matches, made public to-day, an American player will oppose a foreign entrant in each contest. The other participants are scheduled for their first engagements on Tuesday, as follows:

CULEBRA GOES SLIDING.

Damage Will Not Obstruct Traffic in Canal.

Panama, Nov. 9.—John D. Clayborne, assistant engineer of the dredging division of the canal, said yesterday that a slight movement of earth had occurred northwest of Culebra, but that no interruption of traffic through the canal was expected. As a precautionary measure necessary equipment has been taken to the scene of the slide which is near old Culebra village. No estimate of the extent.

BRITISH COMMENT.

Is That Harding Administration Was Criticized.

London, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press).—The comment made by the Democrats in the American elections last Tuesday is explained to British readers by their newspapers in many ways, and the speculation which the editorial writers indulge in is quite diversified. Some think the pendulum merely swung back, but others interpret the voting as revealing widespread dissatisfaction with the Harding administration and many of its works including the tariff and the enforcement of prohibition.

Throughout England the American elections have attracted more editorial comment than is often the case.

The Times pays a tribute to the Harding administration as one which has achieved successes of which America may well be proud "notably in its eminently skillful handling of the great international congress" at Washington last fall. That newspaper thinks that the violence with which the Democratic party machine and other mechanisms in ways wholly undesirable and unforeseen.

The Chronicle regards the Democratic victories as quite enormous and significant and ascribes the change as partly the result of a new swing of the pendulum partly to the "excessive application of prohibition and partly to the dissatisfaction with the supremacy of big business interests and the tariff."

The new strength of the Democratic party will surely make itself felt, the Chronicle adds, telling its readers that the Democrats still retain allegiance to the ideals of Woodrow Wilson.

The Westminster Gazette derives from the election results the hope that the Americans are veering somewhat toward co-operation with the league of nations, although it thinks it hardly possible that there will be any considerable change in the attitude of the United States on this question in the immediate future. The Westminster Gazette was surprised that women candidates were so unsuccessful.

The Daily News says the turnover was due "mostly perhaps to the general disgust of the electorate with the failure of the Harding administration to do anything at all. It will make the already hard task of that administration still harder."

The Dublin Freeman's Journal says the Americans, when they were sick of Wilson and the treaty of Versailles, had to vote Republican to get rid of them, but they did not desire to be dosed with Republicanism.

GASTON'S PETITION FOR RECOUNT UNDER WAY

Will Contest Count Which Gave Lodge the Election By 8,425.

Boston, Nov. 9.—Petitions for state-wide recounts of the vote for United States senator in Tuesday's election were being prepared for circulation to-day by campaign managers for Colonel William A. Gaston, the Democratic opponent of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. The latter's plurality stands at 8,425 votes in the present returns.

The Republican state committee had sent word to all city and town committees to prepare for a recount in the event that Colonel Gaston's supporters took action.

The law provides that no vote may be recounted without a petition signed by at least ten of the registered voters in each precinct of the state, except in Boston, where the minimum is 50 names.

Recount petitions must be filed within three days of the close of the polls.

CLAIMS FRAZIER ELECTED.

Fargo, N. D., Newspaper Tells of Non-Partisan League Victory.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 9.—With the Fargo Courier News claiming the election of Lynn J. Frazier, recalled Non-Partisan league governor of North Dakota, to the United States senate, J. F. T. returns from a Democratic opponent, had a lead of about 7,000 votes when tabulation of returns was resumed to-day.

O'Connor's lead in returns reported from the cities and the eastern part of the state dropped sharply from 15,000 yesterday to 7,000 last night. On the basis of this and with reports coming in from league strongholds in the western sections of North Dakota, the Courier News asserted Frazier had been chosen for the Senate. The newspaper estimated his majority would be about 15,000.

Outcome of the congressional races in the second and third districts still was in doubt to-day.

In the third Representative James H. Sinclair, with less than one-fifth of the district reported, had a lead of about 600. Returns from the first congressional district were also in doubt.

Representative George H. Young leading by 800 votes.

SWEEPING DEMOCRATIC GAIN.

Was Made in Missouri Besides Reed's Victory.

St. Louis, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press).—The Democrats of Missouri scored a sweeping victory Tuesday by electing, in addition to Senator Reed, who was carried into office as a result of his 42,000 plurality in St. Louis, 11 of the 16 congressional districts, all the state judges of the state supreme court, 12 of the 17 state senators and a large majority of the 150 state legislators.

Reed's early lead, which exceeded 50,000 at one time yesterday, was materially reduced as the returns from the rural districts piled up last night and to-day Reed's plurality had been cut to 33,000.

REPUBLICANS CONTROL HOUSE

Were To-day Assured of 224 Votes; 218 Were Necessary

THREE DISTRICTS YET TO REPORT

Rep. McCormick of Montana One of Those Defeated

New York, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press).—Returns from all but three congressional districts, where results were still undetermined at noon to-day, show 224 Republicans; 205 Democrats; 1 Socialist; 1 Independent and 1 Farmer-Labor elected to the new House of Representatives.

The general picture of Tuesday's storm of ballots was virtually finished early this morning when belated Montana returns sent the Republicans over the top in the House contest. Election of R. Scott Leavitt, Republican, in Montana gave the Republicans the 218 votes necessary to control the next House, but even these Republican tidings were coupled with news of defeat of Representative McCormick, Republican, Montana, by his Democratic opponent, John M. Vans.

Latest figures to-day show the next Senate will have 52 Republicans; 41 Democrats and 7 Farmer-Labor representatives with results of two senatorial contests—one in Washington and the other in North Dakota—still undecided.

NEWBERRYISM THE ISSUE.

On Which Ferris Was Elected Senator in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 9.—The Democratic successes in Michigan in Tuesday's election appeared even more pronounced to-day when belated returns showed that in addition to electing a senator, a member of the House of Representatives and five members of the legislature, the party had gained ground in numerous counties of the state. In several instances the majority of the county officers went to Democrats for the first time in history.

The big fight, however, was centered in the senatorial contest and the victory by 15,000 votes of Woodbridge W. Ferris, former governor, over Senator Charles E. Townsend, was looked upon by Democratic leaders as the outstanding result.

Throughout the campaign Mr. Ferris brought the Newberry matter to the fore, declaring it was the "big issue in Michigan" and that by his election Michigan voters could "purge themselves of Newberryism."

Whether the senator-elect planned to raise issue in Washington was not definitely known to-day. He had been quoted as saying that if elected he might re-open the Newberry case in the Senate.

In a statement shortly after his election was assured, Mr. Ferris said the voters had "redeemed Michigan senatorially" adding:

"The defeat of Newberryism is a victory looking to cleaner elections. Its influence will be wholesome before other states."

FARMER-LABOR COALITION.

Won in the Minnesota Congressional Election.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 9.—The Farmer-Labor party, whose candidate for United States senator, Dr. Henrik Shipstead, and candidate for representative in Congress from the ninth Minnesota district, Knud Wefald, were successful in Tuesday's election, won from an amalgamation two years ago of the farmer element of the non-partisan league in Minnesota and the working peoples non-partisan political league in the cities.

The purpose of the new organization was to bring together for political strength the farmer and laborer, to work principally for legislation favorable to them.

It was in the fall campaign in 1920 that the new party became active. Defeated as a candidate for governor on the Republican ticket in the primary, Dr. Shipstead fled as independent and the Farmer-Labor organization swung its support to him. He was beaten by Governor J. A. O. Preus, Republican. This year he was chosen by the party for the senatorship.

In its two years of existence, the Farmer-Labor party now ranks second to the Republican party in Minnesota, with the number of votes cast for it. The Democratic party ranks third.

TO HONOR EDWARDS.

On Retirement of Mayor General from Service.

Boston, Nov. 9.—The retirement from active service of Mayor General Clarence R. Edwards, former commander of the 26th division overseas, was honored by a testimonial dinner to him by Yankee division veterans at the Boston city club on Saturday evening, December 2. World war veterans from New England and beyond are expected also, the committee in charge announced to-day. It is expected also that the six New England governors and the successor to General Edwards as a corps area commander will be present. General Edwards' retirement will be effective December 1.

PARENTS SAID HE WAS A FOOL

Testified Douglas Woodhouse in Million-dollar Alienation Suit.

DENIES THEY ENCOURAGED HIM TO CONTINUE HIS RELATIONS WITH MRS. LILLIAN MCCLELLAN

Burlington, Nov. 9.—Reading of the deposition of C. Douglas Woodhouse in the resumption of the million dollar alienation suit here this morning revealed the fact that Douglas said his parents never encouraged him to continue his relations with Mrs. Lillian Hendricks McClellan of Washington, but that they called him fool, not once but many times.

A new development in the case was the testimony of Mrs. Mary Kennedy Woodhouse, mother of Douglas, who testified that her son never knew that young Mrs. Woodhouse before her marriage lived around the corner from her nor did she know that young Mrs. Woodhouse's family even existed.

The romance in his life began when he met Dorrit Stevens in June, 1912, at a dance at the University of Vermont. Their friendship grew rapidly and Douglas said that he considered Dorrit Stevens socially his equal in the community. When she went to the Philippines and was gone about six months, they corresponded on the basis of friendship and when she returned he met her at the train.

They became engaged to marry in February, 1918. He bought her an engagement ring in the summer while he was in the service but did not give it to her until later, keeping it in the safe deposit vault in the meantime. He did not announce his engagement to his parents until September.

He did not tell his parents the reason, he did not tell his parents about the affair was that he thought it was customary that the lady's parents should first announce the engagement. He said that the only time he remembered of his parents commenting upon Dorrit, previous to the season of marriage, was when they had spoken favorably of her looks and bearing.

He told them on Sept. 24, 1918, that he was going to marry Dorrit Stevens and they said that was perfectly agreeable to them. The whole affair appeared as a matter of indifference to his parents, Douglas said. They neither approved nor disapproved of his marriage, he thought, that they did not attend his marriage in New York on Sept. 29.

As soon as he was able to get out after his sickness in January, 1919, his parents wanted to know if he would like to go to Florida with them. He said he would and accepted the invitation with the expectation that he would leave them after he arrived in Florida and would take a trip by himself. Asked if he did not think it strange that his wife was not invited to go also, Douglas said he did not think so knowing his parents' attitude of indifference.

He said he visited relatives in Louisville, Ky., while he was in the south. He gave her $400, he testified, and he went to Florida on a furlough ticket and that he paid his own expenses.

Douglas would not admit in his testimony that his parents attempted to influence him against his wife by taking him away from her for a trip to the south. He thought this was all imagination. Dorrit seemed to feel that the family had a strange and unnatural influence over him. As a matter of fact, he declared, their attitude was consistent with the attitude of his wife's family, but she seemed to interpret all of their actions as hostile to her. He admitted that later he was much annoyed at this attitude. After he came back to Vermont he went to Louisville to see his wife and then he returned to Vermont in March, 1919, remaining with her one day and then going to New York.

Although he stopped at the Woodstock hotel in New York, at which time Douglas went to see his parents, Douglas did not visit her nor did he take her to his home. He was discharged from the service about April 1, 1919, and it was arranged that his wife should go to the home of his aunt in Westport, Mass., while he went to the home of his parents in New York. He was asked, if he loved his wife at that time and he answered "I did."

ATTACKS INSANITY DEFENSE.

Prosecution Tries to Prove Mrs. Clara Phillips Sane.

Los Angeles, Nov. 9.—Rebuttal testimony by the first of probably 20 witnesses for the state was offered to-day at the trial of Mrs. Clara Phillips for the killing of Mrs. Albert Tremaine Meadows, 30-year-old widow, who was beaten to death with a hammer.

The defense rested yesterday after a group of alienists had testified they believed the defendant insane, afflicted with "psychic epilepsy."

A number of the state witnesses are experts in mental and nervous diseases, who, it was stated, would attempt to prove the defendant sane.

MISS NOTT DEFEATED.

In Her Election Aspirations in South Burlington.

Burlington, Nov. 9.—The three-cornered town representative fight in South Burlington between P. M. Mills, R. Miss Nott, citizen's candidate, and Daniel O'Brien, D., went to Mills yesterday on the third ballot. Mills polled a vote of 245, Miss Nott 218 and O'Brien, a veteran legislator in the state, 187.

Miss Nott led on both the first and second ballots.

DEPRIVED OF VOTES.

Through Faulty Judgment of Election Officials, Says Fleetwood.

Morrisville, Nov. 9.—Frederick G. Fleetwood, representative-elect to the next Congress from the first Vermont district, stated yesterday that he believes ballots, cast in the election Tuesday, on which crosses were placed opposite his name as Republican and Prohibition candidate, should all have been counted in his favor. It is understood that in some voting districts ballots so marked were credited to Mr. Fleetwood, while in other places they were declared defective. Mr. Fleetwood asserts that there is no provision in law, and that no decision has been rendered by a Vermont court, that would justify the action of election officials in failing to count in his favor the ballots on which voters had made crosses opposite his name twice.

Mr. Fleetwood said that, although he had the matter under consideration, he had not reached a decision as to whether he would take steps to have the votes on the alleged defective ballots credited to him, but that it is doubtful if he will make any move in the matter.

The new representative-elect was not disposed to-day to discuss possible reasons for his total vote in the district being less than that of his associates on the Republican ticket.

BOSTON MINISTER CHOSEN.

Dr. Alexander Mann Heads Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh.

Boston, Nov. 9.—Dr. Alexander Mann, who was elected bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pittsburgh early to-day, has been rector of Trinity church here since 1905. In 1908 he declined election as bishop of Washington, giving as his reason belief that his work in Boston was still unfinished. He declined also elections in 1915 as suffragan bishop of the diocese of New York, and in 1917 as bishop of the Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. Mann was born in Geneva, N. Y., in 1860 and was graduated from Harvard college in 1881 and from the General Theological seminary in 1886. He was assistant rector of St. James' church, Buffalo, N. Y., 1886-9, and of Grace church, Orange, N. J., for 13 years, becoming rector of the latter church in 1900. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa.

NO GRAND JURY ACTION TILL NEXT WEEK

Possibly on Monday Prosecution Will Begin Case Against "Lady in Gray."

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press).—Final plans for presentation to the Somerset county grand jury of evidence in the Hall-Mills murder case were worked out to-day at a conference here of Special Deputy Attorney General Mott and his assistants with Supreme Court Justice Parker and Albert Gibb, grand jury foreman.

After the conference, Mr. Mott announced that the grand jury would not hear the case this week. He intimated that he probably would start laying evidence against "the woman in gray" and two men before the grand jury Monday, but declined to say definitely.

Mr. Mott expects to consume three or four days before the grand jury, with the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibb, farmer-woman, who says she saw the slaying of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills and with strong corroborative evidence, he is declared to be confident of obtaining indictments.

COMMERCE PARALYZED.

Throughout Asia Minor as Result of Turkish Action.

Smyrna, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press).—Commerce is completely paralyzed throughout Asia Minor. One by one the banks of Smyrna are closing and the Kemalists have sealed the vaults of most of the banking institutions because they would not furnish the national debt securities with lists of their Greek and Armenian accounts. Several American tobacco companies have suspended operations and are preparing to transfer their stocks to the United States.

The order for all the banks to furnish lists of the Greek and Armenian accounts was issued yesterday by the Kemalists authorities. Most of them refused and their vaults were sealed by armed Turkish guards. The National bank of Turkey voluntarily closed its doors on the announced grounds that there was no longer any business.

The Kemalists have drawn up plans for the reconstruction of the city, but no funds are available for building work of any kind.

The Deer Slaughter.

Previously reported 21; grand total 46.

ASSAILANT OF WOMAN SOUGHT

Suspect Picked Up at Montpelier Was Later Released

LEFT MRS. A. M. BAILEY BOUND, TIED TO BED

Tore Rings From Fingers of East Montpelier Woman

A suspect picked up at Montpelier last night proved he was not the man wanted for the assault and robbery of Mrs. A. W. Bailey at her home on the East Montpelier Center road, out of Montpelier, yesterday noon, and sheriffs and police continued their search for the man.

Mrs. Bailey, who is 68 years of age, was left bound and tied to her bed by her assailant, who took rings from her fingers and other property. The man is said to have taken to the fields and woods a short time after leaving the Bailey residence.

The man called at the Bailey house, where Mrs. Bailey was alone at the time. He asked for work and also for a place to rest, after which he committed the assault and robbery.

The double crime was reported to the authorities and as State's Attorney C. B. Adams was engaged in the trial of the Folson case in Washington county court the matter was turned over to Grand Juror John H. Stone of Montpelier.

Mrs. Bailey's assailant is described as a young man about 20 years of age and at the time he wore a light felt hat and high leather boots. A scar on his upper lip stands out especially prominent and may be easily seen at a glance. The published description has been sent broadcast and it is hoped that the man will be apprehended soon.

An officer was searching in Barre to-day but it is understood to have found no clue.

THINK 'T WAS STRAY SHOT.

Which Struck Mrs. E. M. House at Her Waited House.

Deputy Sheriff Henry C. Lawson and George C. Grandfield made an investigation yesterday of the shooting of Mrs. E. M. House at Waited house, Tuesday as she was telephoning in her home and came to the conclusion that the bullet, which severely injured Mrs. House, was a stray shot fired by a hunter. There did not seem to be any conceivable cause for purposely firing such a shot. It is not known whether an effort will be made to trace the party who fired the shot or not.

Mr. Edwin M. House is in a serious condition at Heaton hospital, it was stated by her physician, M. F. McGuire, yesterday. The bullet struck the hand with which she was holding the receiver, making necessary the amputation of two fingers, namely the receiver and carried some of it into the wound which the bullet made in the side of her face. The face and jaw bones on one side were smashed, the bullet glancing off and going through the skull. The bullet and its jacket separated and were removed from the neck.

GREAT PARADE OF FIREMEN

As Celebration of 50th Anniversary of Boston's Big Fire.

Boston, Nov. 9.—Boston fire fighters observed the fiftieth anniversary to-day of the conflagration which swept the city in 1872. The main feature was a parade in which more than 100 fire chiefs and 1300 firemen with apparatus from cities and towns outside of the city took part.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Word has been received in the city to the effect that Dr. Daniel McCarthy, son of Mrs. Mary McCarthy of Summer street, who recently graduated from the Palmer School of Chiropractic, has set up practice in Niles, O.

Eldon Ball has been employed by the W. G. Reynolds store as radio installation lead and will have charge of the setting up of all sets from the store as well as seeing that all equipment is kept up to the minute. Mr. Ball has had a great deal of experience in the radio line, having had a set of his own for some time.

Work of repairing and remodeling the new Red Cross headquarters in the basement of the Quarry Bank building on Keith avenue is now nearly completed and the public nurse has established quarters there instead of at the Community house. The corner was formerly occupied by the Shepard cafe and Mrs. Bianchi's home bakery.

Mrs. John Shady, who was arrested some weeks ago on a charge of selling intoxicating liquors and who pleaded not guilty at the time, appeared in city court Monday to answer to her plea. The case was oral yesterday and was brought before Judge Fay in city court to pay a fine of $300 and costs of $8.85. An additional sentence was imposed of not less than three nor more than six months at the house of correction.

Her fine she was placed on probation. Envoys J. W. Sykes, local head of the Salvation Army, has been retired from active service after a period of 38 years in the army work. His retirement does not mean that he is out of the work, for to a Times representative to-day he claimed that he "could not live without the work," and it is his intention, with the help of Mrs. Sykes, to lend all the assistance to the local company. Envoys Sykes is a vigorous worker in spite of his advanced years, he being 82 years old. Previous to his work in the Salvation Army he served in the 10th New York cavalry in the Civil war. He came to Barre a year and a half ago from Hyde Park, Mass. He will preach his farewell sermon Sunday at the city hall. He expects to make his home in the city for the winter at least. Successor will be Captain Evans and his Lieutenant Woodard of Middlebury, Conn., who will enter into the work here Wednesday, Nov. 15.

RED CROSS DRIVE IN BARRE NOV. 16

Record of Another Year of Successful Work Is Back of the Move.

With the record of another year of helpful and constantly expanding community service nearing an end, the Barre chapter of the Red Cross is about to make its annual appeal to the people of this city and vicinity. Thursday, Nov. 16, is the day set apart for the drive, and the local canvass will form a part of the nation-wide roll call of the American Red Cross.

Division of the city into districts, the appointment of team captains and committees, and the assignment of teams are among the details which are being worked out at Red Cross headquarters on Keith avenue. For the reason that a very large proportion of the funds subscribed locally is to be used right here at home, there is an obvious obligation on the part of everyone to contribute liberally. The work of the Red Cross in Barre this year, with its nursing service, has more than justified every expectation and hundreds of people who have come in direct contact with the results of the service know that it is deserving of every cent that possibly can be contributed toward it.

That the Barre friends of the Red Cross may understand clearly the basis on which their subscriptions are applied to the local work, it should be explained that one-half of the annual membership of $1.00 for local work. Contributing memberships are $3.00 and of this sum $4.50 goes for the work here in Barre. It is a sustaining membership, $10.00 the local chapter retains $5.00.

Since the war the Red Cross chapter, with its visiting nurse service, has become a vital part of the community. By itself alone, the good work performed by the Red Cross nurse here in Barre this year deserves not only the commendation, but the heartiest support of the public. Barre cannot afford to let this invaluable work suffer for lack of funds. The Red Cross drive, Nov. 16, deserves a whole-hearted response if the work is to be maintained and enlarged.

HENRY MASSIE DEAD.

Barre Young Man Died After Two Years' Illness.

Henry Massie passed away yesterday afternoon at the home of his parents on Maple avenue, after an illness of over two years. Death was due to tuberculosis.

Mr. Massie was born at Aberdeen, Scotland in 1897, and came to this city 21 years ago. He was a stonemason by trade and was a member of the Odd Fellows, Manchester unity, and of the local Grand Cutters' union. He had a large circle of friends in the city who will regret to hear of his death.

The surviving relatives are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Massie of this city; two sisters, Mrs. James Fraser of Holyoke, Mass., and Miss Mary Massie of this city; and three brothers, Patrick Massie of Buffalo, N. Y., and James and Richard Massie, both of this city.

The funeral will be held at 10 Maple avenue Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be in Hope cemetery.
